New Business/Announcements:

- On Wed, 7/15/26, the UT Turfgrass Team with Becky Bowling and Gregg Upchurch is hosting 'Beat the Heat on the Plateau' at the Gardens. It's a statewide educational series to help landscape professionals, golf course personnel, and home gardeners maintain healthy turf during the hottest months. More details at: UTHort Pros | UT Hort
 - Gregg would like us to know we can learn how to evaluate/score cool season turfgrass trials, thereby contributing to research and development. Warm season turfgrass trials have been installed and three new cultivars are to be installed in the next few weeks

- Julie Lesko would like us to know you are welcome to come to the Garden Mondays at 9am to help water/fertilize the research vegetable plots. The tomatoes are not doing as well as last year at this time but it's turning out to be a good learning experience
- Approximately 13 more volunteers are needed on Thursday 8/20/26 for the Steak and Potatoes Field Day event. Post-meeting note: Carol Burdett sent us an email 7/10 to explain how we are needed. If you are interested, email carolburdett@live.com UPDATE post-meeting: all slots are filled, thank you per Carol.
- Mike Barron encourages us to go to Tennessee Smart Yards and begin your learning and evaluation of your property. Ideally, all Cumberland County residents (and especially Master Gardeners) would look into the program and become certified. You'll very likely find that you're already doing many of the practices to your outdoor spaces to create healthier, more ecologically-sound landscapes and communities. Nine principles of stewardship serve as the foundation for the program and are explored in online modules and practical workshops taught by UT-TSU Extension and water resource professionals.
 - There will be a Smart Yard and Friends Fest on Saturday, 9/12 from 10a-2p in UT Gardens, Knoxville (2518 Jacob Dr) that you may want to attend. It's a free, annual sustainable gardening event with expert-led classes, native plant giveaways and more. Food available for purchase

President Carroll adjourned the meeting at 2:54 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Sharon McKinney, Corporate Secretary
